Announcements

During last year’s survey period, the AEC received petitions from clinical faculty in the College of Pharmacy, the School of Nursing and the School of Social Work to join the survey. Those faculty were added to the remainder of that survey period and will participate in future surveys.

We also received clarification last year on an issue that had come up before, namely, which librarians report to the University Librarian. Starting this year, librarians in the Law, Kresge, Bentley, Clements and Dearborn Libraries will no longer evaluate the University Librarian, and in some cases, will evaluate a dean instead.

Reviewing the current list of administrators to be evaluated

There was a brief discussion of whether or not any new administrators should be added to the survey. It was decided not to add any new administrators this year.

Reviewing the current questionnaire questions for administrators

There was another brief discussion on adding new “standard” questions to questionnaires, mindful that longitudinal measures are aided by stability in the questionnaires. It was decided not to make any changes this year.

Status of the survey infrastructure and AEC server.

Keith has nearly completed compiling administrator changes and faculty affiliations. Don confirmed that the AEC server hardware is up to date.

Target dates for starting & ending the survey

It was decided tentatively to start the survey on Wednesday March 21, 2018, with an end date four weeks later on April 18, 2018 (study day).

Improving faculty response rates

For the last three years President Schlissel has kindly sent out an endorsement and encouragement to faculty to participate in the survey. Last year, the overall response rate topped 30% for the 2nd year in a row, an upward trend undoubtedly assisted by the President’s encouragement. His endorsement will be requested again this year.

Dearborn survey

The Dearborn faculty have been requested to provide an updated set of questions for their “Opinions of Faculty” survey and to verify the correctness of our current list of Dearborn administrators.
Flint participation

Sarah reported that Flint faculty participation in the AEC survey was narrowly voted down by the Flint Faculty Council last year. That decision was, at least in part, because of a perception that the AEC policy of providing comments regarding administrators only to those administrators (without anyone else, including any AEC members, viewing them) is at odds with the Flint Faculty Code, which requires Flint administrator evaluation comments to be seen (confidentially) by the Faculty Council.

There is some possibility, however, that partial use could be made of the AEC survey by Flint faculty (e.g., evaluation of the President and participation in an Opinions of Faculty survey) without violating the Code, and it's also possible that the Code itself could be revised in the future.

AEC members present strongly supported participation by Flint faculty in future AEC surveys and hope that Flint faculty can find a way to make that happen.

Other issues?

One suggestion from last year's survey was to flag any rows in the reporting tables for which the fraction of NBJ (no basis for judgment) responses exceeds 40% of all responses. The AEC adopted this suggestion. Don will look into how best to flag the rows, e.g., with asterisks, color-coding, etc.

Another suggestion from last year concerned adding questions on clinical loads to chair evaluation questionnaires for medical or dental school faculty. The AEC decided not to adopt the suggestion.

Another suggestion from last year was to provide an open-ended comment field on the Opinions of Faculty questionnaire. The AEC decided not to adopt the suggestion.
