ANTI-RACISM AND FACULTY SUCCESS: A VIRTUAL CONVERSATION

Despite best efforts, no college or university is immune to a politically charged environment that challenges academic freedom, particularly with regard to race and ethnicity.

Academic institutions have put in place important DEI and Anti-Racism initiatives, however could more progress be made with regard to pay equity, challenges to tenure and promotion, or coping with micro- and macro-aggressions? How does successful handling of these issues affect our students and our communities?

Join us for a conversation on these topics with a panel of colleagues:
