3:22pm-3:45pm: Chair's Update

Summary: The SACUA Chair provided updates on work that has been completed since the last SACUA meeting.

The SACUA Chair polled the SACUA members present for a date to hold the annual Faculty Senate luncheon in April. The current dates under consideration at this time are 4/9 and 4/11. Wednesday 4/9 is preferred by the majority of the members present. Friday 4/11 is noted as possible for some of the members present. The Faculty Senate Office will work to set a date, book a venue, and send out invitations to Senate members, Committee members, and Executive Officers. The preferred date is tentative and will be dependent on logistical issues.

Chair Modrak was recently invited to a school to discuss current issues facing faculty governance at the University of Michigan. During this discussion, institutional neutrality was the primary issue addressed. An issue related to the recent bylaw regarding institutional neutrality is that there is supposed to be a frequently asked questions page provided by the administration that provides guidance on this new bylaw. This FAQ is not available currently. The school involved in this discussion created a list of questions related to institutional neutrality they would like answered. Chair Modrak sent the list of questions to Provost McCauley and Special Counsel to the Provost Gerdes, who have forwarded the list of questions to the group working on the FAQ. Chair Modrak will share the list of questions provided to the Provost with SACUA.

Director McCarthy and Chair Modrak attended a meeting regarding the Faculty Senate Office Budget. Director McCarthy provided a brief overview of the FSO budget and indicated that it primarily consists of salaries. The budget can be discussed by SACUA further at a future meeting regarding what other functions the Faculty Senate Office can have. Examples of further functions are given, including hosting panels on faculty governance and related issues. The Rules, Practices and Policies Committee (RPP) is currently conducting a peer comparison of faculty governance at other institutions. They will work to provide models to SACUA later on, which should help guide SACUA conversations on the role of faculty governance bodies at UM. That discussion of the future of the UM Faculty Senate can then guide future budget requests.

The RPP has also been reviewing the Faculty Senate's Rules. Some of the rules need to be updated to be in line with the Regent's bylaws. It is indicated that most of the recommendations are not substantive, although there are a few substantive recommendations. These recommendations will be shared with SACUA later this term for review. A few examples are shared of the recommendations that will be offered, with the most prominent being a recommendation to increase SACUA's size to 11, with a permanent seat of a representative from Dearborn and a representative from Flint.

A suggestion has been made to have SACUA visit the Flint and Dearborn campuses. Support is offered for this suggestion by members present, with suggestions offered for activities that could take place during such a visit.

Recent issues facing the Dearborn campus are discussed. CASL faculty concerns are discussed. After the recent town hall related to the CASL issues, two letters were written. Both letters have been sent to Chancellor Grasso.
